New Hampshire resident wants to open video store

Margaret Cochran, of Jackson, N.H., has purchased the former Crawford and Terry Perry residence and gift shop, on Rte. 2, Bethel, and hopes to establish a video store in the shop. Since this would be a change of use, Ms. Cochran appeared before the Planning Board last Wednesday night to inquire about filing a Site Plan Review application.

Planning Board members told her it seemed that the building had the necessary setback requirement, and the five parking spaces required under the ordinance's formula (one space for each 200 feet of display space) could probably also be met for the 1,000-square-foot shop. She said she would likely submit an application sometime in the future.

Ms. Cochran said her plans are not yet definite, but she would like to have someone manage the store and live in the house. She does not plan to move to Bethel.

In other business, the planners accepted the completed subdivision application from the developers of the proposed Oite Perry Road Condominium project. These 18 units would be situated on the Northwest Bethel Road.

Dann Douglas, representing Cullinan Oil Co., filed an application under the Site Plan Review Ordinance, to expand Brown's Motel. The work would entail a new island for pumps, a new fuel storage, and a new canopy.

Bill and Vicki Myers turned in their completed application for a subdivision permit for 10 two-bedroom condominium units to be built on the Sunday River Road. Shuttles of the property appeared at the meeting to express concern about possible seepage of the septic system on to their property. However, Mr. Myers had a report from a soils engineer stating there would be no drainage into the neighbors' yards.

Francis Dumont, owner of the Pleasant River Campground, in West Bethel, made a formal application to convert the 30 motel units under construction at the Deer kills exceeding those of a year ago

Hunters are having better luck killing deer this year than a year ago, according to figures compiled from area tagging stations.

At Westlight's Service Station, in Bethel, 42 deer have been tagged as of Monday, as well as 26 bear. The largest deer tagged at Westlight's was a 12-point, 220-pound buck shot by Leroy Patten.

At Bob's Corner Store, in Locke Mills, 11 deer had been tagged as of this week, the largest belonging to Duane Roberts—an 11-point, 150-pound buck.

At the Trap Corner Store, in West Paris, 27 deer and 8 bear had been brought in for tagging.

At Mills Market, in Andover, 38 deer and 36 bear had been tagged as of this week. Owner Roger Mills said both totals were ahead of last year. Roger Salun holds the record for the biggest buck to date at the Andover tagging station, at 225 pounds.

THE TELSTAR LECTURE HALL WAS FILLED to overflowing Saturday with residents from all over the state interested in the future of the Caribou-Speckled area. Above, Bethel Furniture Stock's Leon Favreau—who leads the fight against having the area designated "wilderness," explains that allowing

Congressional delegation gets educated on wilderness

Maine's Congressional delegation—or three of the four (Rep. Joseph Brennan being the exception)—sat attentively in the Telstar Regional High School lecture hall for nearly three hours last Saturday morning, getting an education on the proposed "wilderness" designation for the Caribou-Speckled mountain area.

The hearing, which began at 10 a.m., had been scheduled to last until noon, but Sen. William Cohen, who chaired the session, let everyone who wanted to speak do so. Since there were over 150 people packing the lecture hall, and since many held strong opinions on one side or the other of the issue, many spoke. And it was almost 1 p.m. before everyone had had his or her say.

Leon Favreau, the owner of Bethel Furniture Stock, and the main opponent of closing the Caribou-Speckled area to commercial and mechanized activity, especially timbering, received a loud round of applause after he finished telling the Congressional delegation that closing the area would be harmful to the local economy.

But Joe Rankin, one of the many out-of-towners at the hearing, also received a loud round of applause when he said, "If one half of the White Mountain National Forest were wilderness, it would still not be enough."

In fact, the White Mountain National Forest already has 102,000 acres in "wilderness," or about 13% percent of the total acreage of the forest. All the "wilderness" areas are in New Hampshire—as is most of the forest.

Selectmen hear renewed complaints about music

The Bethel Board of Selectmen held a hearing Monday night to determine how well or poorly the Salsbury Inn management was abiding by the terms of the conditionally renewed entertainment permit. The permit was renewed last month for 66 days, with reviews after each 30 days.

The conditional permit renewal was the expedient determined upon by the board last month in the face of complaints about loud music coming from the Salsbury's new subterranean lounge.

At Monday night's hearing, Clark Street residents Bob and Linda Saunders complained that the music was louder than ever and suggested that the entertainment permit should be revoked.

Owner David Thurston said he had placed an additional partition between the lounge and the street and had been keeping the skylight closed. In addition, he said, he had told bands playing at the lounge to not bring any drummers. His new manager, Dillon Gillies, told the board he had also told the bands to tone down their volume.

Bethel Patrolman Rick Osgood reported he had received just two complaints against the Salsbury in the past month—one for parking and one for loud music, the latter complaint from the Saunders.

Main Street neighbor June Grieg told the board, "I don't have any problem with noise. My problem is with parking [and] I think that's the town's problem. Last week, I came home and there was a car parked right on my lawn that was blocking my driveway."

Mr. Saunders said all the noise from the lounge comes out on the Clark Street side now that the lounge is underground on that side of the property. He said it is particularly the electronic bass sounds that pass through his walls after passing through the closed skylights. "I remain convinced that a technical solution is both possible and easy."

Acting Chairman Arthur Gilbert (in the absence of Chairman Arlan Jodrey), said the matter would be reviewed again in 30 days before an annual renewal of the entertainment permit is voted on. The board then went into closed door session on a personnel matter.

Friends of Androscoggin still looking for potential access points for boaters

While members of the Friends of the Androscoggin have already looked at six possible sites for boat launch ramps, they still have another half-dozen sites to inspect.

Steve Rhodes, chairman of the subcommittee that has been inspecting the sites noted that so far there has not been any general consensus on any of the sites looked at. The one site that appeared to gain somewhat more favor among subcommittee members than any other was the ferry road landing on the north side of the river, in Northwest Bethel.

Other sites already looked at were the ferry road landing on the south side (behind Newton and Tebbets, in West Bethel), the Twin Oaks campground, upstream from the Rte. 2 bridge, the state rest area, and the Alder River intersection by the Davis mill.

The additional sites to be looked at, as suggested by the membership of the Friends of the Androscoggin, are: site to the right of the Alder River bridge, Bog Brook near Penobscot Tavern, Park Barre back of the cemetery off the NW Bethel Road, pipeline crossing on NW

Opinions

Cleaner river depends on will

The state Department of Environmental Protection held public hearings in Rumford, Auburn, Augusta and Madison earlier this month to check on public sentiment for cleaning up the Kennebec and Androscoggin rivers and their tributaries. As expected, polluters of the rivers said the present state of affairs was just fine, while those who believe the rivers should be cleaned up further.

The DEP seems likely to take a midway course between the two opposing views when it recommends revised classifications to its board, which in turn will propose revised classifications to the Legislature.

The classification structure being considered is as follows: Class AA waters shall be completely natural, with no direct discharge of pollutants permitted. Class A waters shall be suitable for drinking (after disinfection), fishing, recreation, etc., and discharges from industry or waste water treatment plants will be permitted as long as the discharges are of equal or better quality than the receiving body of water.

Class B waters shall also be suitable for drinking (but only after treatment), as well as fishing, recreation, etc. The amount of contaminants allowed in the river is higher than what is allowed in Class A waters, and permitted discharges into these rivers shall be of sufficient quality to support all aquatic species indigenous to the receiving water. Class C waters would be similar to Class B, except that increased levels of pollution are permitted, and discharges from permitted outfalls may change aquatic life, although the discharges shall not harm the indigenous fish species in the river.

What does this mean for local rivers?

Here are the changes presently envisioned by the DEP: The Androscoggin River, from the New Hampshire border to the confluence of the Ellis River, would be upgraded from Class C to Class B. From the Ellis River into Lewiston, and from there to Merrymeeting Bay, the river would remain Class C. The Little Androscoggin River, from the outlet of Bryant Pond to the railroad bridge in South Paris, would be upgraded from Class C to Class B.

Upper tributaries of the Androscoggin would be upgraded to at least Class A, if they are not already at that level. The Rapid River, from Middle dam to a point 1,000 feet downstream of Middle dam, would become Class A, upgraded from Class B. The Rapid River, from a point 1,000 feet downstream of Middle dam to its confluence with Umbagog Lake would become Class AA, upgraded from Class B. (The lower portion of the Rapid River would be upgraded from Class C to Class B.)

The Magalloway River is already Class A, as is Chapman Brook, in Bethel. The Bear River would be upgraded from Class B to Class AA. For the Bethel area, the upgraded classifications will be welcome, and the newly formed Friends of the Androscoggin so informed the DEP.

However, a Class B classification for the Androscoggin River as it flows through the Bethel area should not be the end of the battle for a cleaner river. As a DEP study states: "Those swimming in Class B rivers have a slight risk of getting ill as a result of the experience. ... Despite tremendous advances in the improvement of water quality in Maine's major rivers, most Mainers would still prefer to swim in lakes."

This accurately states the present situation, but this should not be the final word on the matter.

Anyone desiring to put in his or her own word on how much effort should be put into cleaning up the Androscoggin and its tributaries may write to the Bureau of Water Quality Control of the DEP, which is accepting comments on its proposed classifications until Dec. 7. The address is State House Station #17, Augusta, Maine 04333. bfw

Labor shortage stifles growth

Local business leaders are bullish on the future of the local economy. In a recent survey 102—out of 130 surveyed—said they expect increased sales over the next five years. The majority also said they expect to expand production within the next five years.

Looking at the responses of the 130 area businesses to the survey, jointly conducted by SAD #4 Adult Ed and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, it is clear that labor is the big questionmark for local employers. Asked which of the following factors were of most concern to the success of their firms, the business leaders gave high marks to "stability of labor force," "ability to obtain skilled labor," "ability to obtain unskilled labor," "overall labor costs. The total number of responses to these concerns far exceeded the one single concern that drew the largest number of votes, "adequate market for product."

Asked if they need assistance on how to obtain various forms of business capital, 100 business owners said "no" while only 16 said "yes." Adult Education Director Cathy Newell said the survey was done in the summer, and since then the labor shortage has become even more acute, as evidenced by the concern articulated by employers at the recent Citizens Community Conference.

Given the above facts, it is a wonder that the Legislature tried, in the last election, to have voters approve a bond issue to make more loan money available to small businesses. It is quite clear that what businesses need is not more money, but a stable and trained workforce. The governor has promised job training and re-training (for those workers forced out of work by foreign imports), but so far there's nothing to show for it.

While the employers need workers, the workers also have their needs—and at the top of the list is affordable housing. Given the generally below-national-average wage scale in Western Maine, and the rapidly increasing cost of housing, it is clear that something must be done to either rapidly raise wages or rapidly lower the cost of housing.

While wages are going up fairly quickly due to the present labor shortage, continued rapid increases will severely harm labor-intensive industries in the area. The response of these industries would be a curtailment of business or a move towards increased mechanization.

A much better solution than forcing up wages would be stabilization of wages at or near their current levels while bringing down housing costs in order to allow salaries to stretch further.

The Citizens Conference set up committees to look for solutions to the labor problem and the affordable housing problem. Their suggestions, when formulated, will hopefully give the Legislature some creative ideas. bfw

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We wish to go on record as favoring the wilderness designation of the Caribou-Speckled Mountain area of the White Mountain National Forest. We live very close to the proposed wilderness and feel that the Bethel area and, indeed, the entire state of Maine would be enhanced if this proposal were carried out.

Opponents of the plan would have us believe that development and harvesting of resources are always good for us and that the natural world, left that way, is bad for us. It is hoped that society has progressed beyond such primitive and archaic thinking. We are more inclined to agree with Thoreau who said, "In wilderness is the preservation of the world. ... We need to witness our own limits transgressed, and some life pasturing freely where we never wander."

Another rationale for setting aside this land now is the impact of unprecedented development pressures in the state of Maine. In too many other once beautiful areas of our country and our state these pressures have gone unchecked until suddenly we looked around and wondered where the beauty went. Moreover, the maintenance of balance is an overriding issue. Logging is already done in the greater part of the state's forest lands. This particular slice of acreage will not affect the timber industry appreciably. Furthermore, the proposal is supported by the Maine Forest Service, which has some expertise in forest management.

There is a price to pay for everything. If the wilderness is designated, there will be some acreage that cannot be harvested and some snowmachine trails closed. On the other hand, if the proposal is defeated, we lose, perhaps for all time, the opportunity for the preservation of this magnificent area in a natural state. We urge our legislators in Washington to press for passage of the proposal to designate as wilderness the Caribou-Speckled Mountain area of the White Mountain National Forest.

To the Editor:

In response to Bernard F. Wideman's editorial of Oct. 21, I would like to clarify some of the issues regarding the Central Maine Power Company proposal to purchase power from Hydro-Quebec. CMP and the State Office of Energy Resources anticipate Maine's use of energy to increase by 2 to 3 percent per year through the beginning of the next century. In order to provide that power, we must begin planning now. After looking at the available sources to meet the energy shortfall, CMP has recommended increases in conservation, cogeneration and Canadian power. The Company is taking steps to provide additional electricity from all these sources. We expect to avoid the need for approximately 700 megawatts of capacity through increases in conservation programs, and expect power from cogeneration and small power producers to make up about a third of our energy supply.

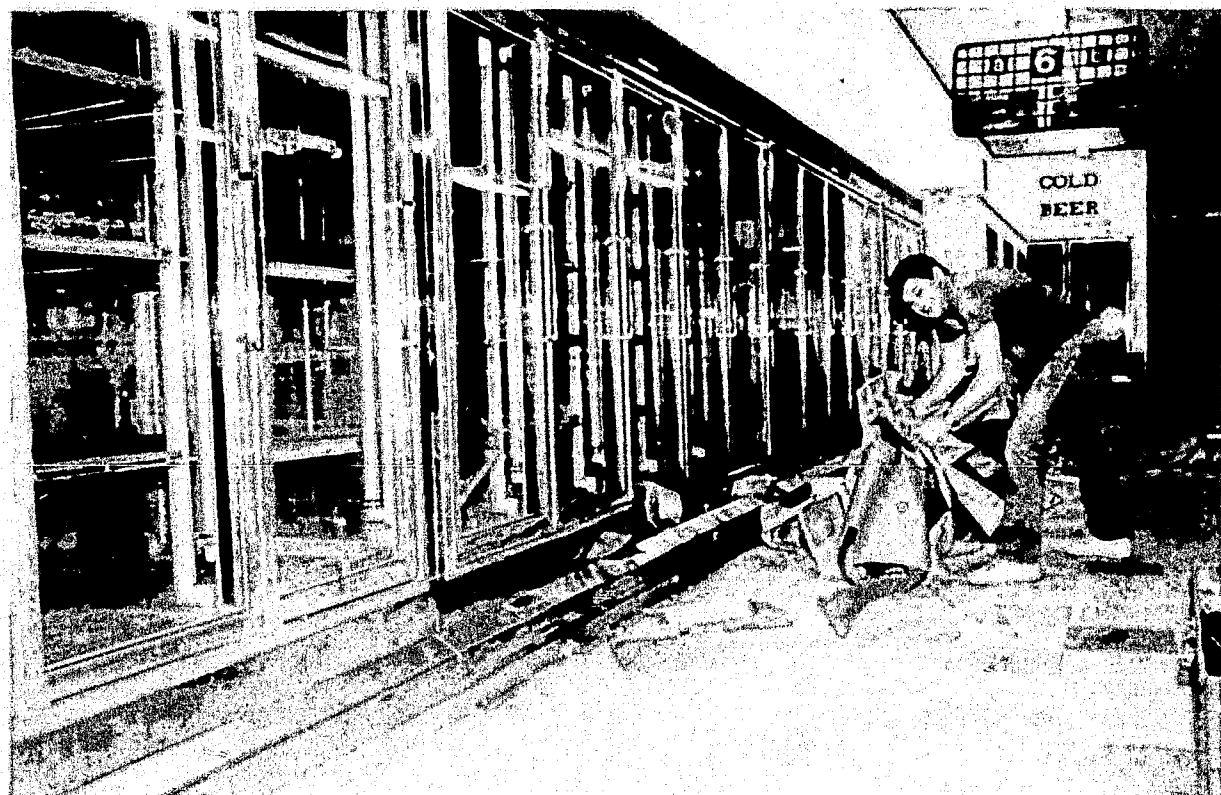

The most stable, reliable and economic source of power from Canada appears to be the proposed long-term purchase from Hydro-Quebec. Beginning in 1992, CMP proposes to purchase 400 megawatts from this Company. Two hundred megawatts of this power would be used by CMP customers. An additional amount would be sold to utilities in Maine. The remainder would be sold out of state. In 1995, we propose to purchase an additional 200 megawatts. Of this, 100 megawatts would remain in CMP's service territory, an additional amount would be sold to Maine utilities, and the remainder would be sold out of state. In the year 2000, we propose to purchase an additional 300 megawatts of capacity from Hydro-Quebec, all of which would be used exclusively by CMP customers.

In order to obtain the low cost contained in the proposed contract with Hydro-Quebec, CMP agreed to purchase an amount of power somewhat higher than our customers would need in the early years. This purchase would guarantee the low cost of the power over the entire 25-year life of the contract.

The most important thing to remember about this proposal is that it is just that—a proposal. Central Maine Power Company has requested the State Legislature to review the purchase to determine whether it is consistent with energy policy in the State of Maine. In addition, the Maine Public Utilities Commission, the Department of Environmental Protection and several other regulatory agencies will review the proposal. CMP has pledged not to go forward with the project unless our state's leaders agree that it is in the public interest. Major decisions concerning the state's energy future are the right and responsibility of all the people of the State of Maine.

To the Editor:

In the annals of naval history the destroyer escorts are acknowledged for winning "The Battle of the Atlantic." Though many of these ships were recommissioned during the Korean conflict and used in reserve service, they are non-existent today.

Over 10 years ago, a dedicated group of men formed the "Destroyer Escort Sailors Association" to honor those sailors who served on board the DE's. They believed that the destroyer escort sailor should not be lost to oblivion as most of their ships were. These ships were considered obsolete for our present day Navy and were sold for scrap iron or used as targets for torpedo/missile practice. Twelve of these ships were sold to foreign nations. The former USS Hurst DE-250, now the Manuel Azueta A-66, used for cadet training in the Mexican Navy, made a port of call to Philadelphia for the 1986 DESA convention.

If your interest is activated as a former destroyer escort sailor, we are having a reunion and convention for your shipmates in St. Louis, September 2-6, 1988. Anyone who served aboard these types of ships or knows of anyone who did, please contact: Edward L. Lesniak, 8311 Osceola, Niles, Ill. 60648, 312-967-7655. There is a chance that you may locate a lost buddy. DE sailors and DESA are special for fellowship and communication, recognition and reunion. Do you know where your shipmates are today? What they are doing? How some buddies are trying to locate you? DESA is there to renew that old camaraderie.

Marketplace opens under new owners

The Locke Mills Marketplace is scheduled to re-open today (Wednesday). For the past two weeks new owners David P. Mero and David P. Brunette, of Lewiston, Me., have been working around the clock reorganizing, cleaning and restocking the store in preparation for today's opening.

One of their projects has been to build a new wall separating Sandy's Kitchen from the grocery store. The wall provides the restaurant with much needed increased floor space for more tables and seating.

As for the grocery store itself, Mr. Mero said he and his partner hope to run a family-type operation, where people are treated like people. For example, The Marketplace will now offer free delivery service for the elderly and handicapped.

Their new partners will keep "The Marketplace" name and do not plan to make any significant changes in the store's product line, at least at the start, although they do hope to enlarge the produce section in the near future. Videogames are out, however, and instead the store will not rent videotapes.

According to Mr. Mero, The Marketplace will employ about 16 people. As D.P. Enterprises' the partners have purchased a number of pieces of property in the Bethel-Pond/Bethel area, and they have recently met with the Woodstock Building Committee to discuss preliminary plans for converting the former Woodstock School building into housing for the elderly.

Mr. Mero and Mr. Brunette don't plan to move their families up from Massachusetts for two years, but Mr. Brunette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Brunette, have moved to Bryant Pond.

fall into ruin. Fires, however, are fought by forest service personnel.

Since it requires an act of Congress to declare an area "wilderness," Maine's Congressional delegation was interested to learn how Mainers—not necessarily Bethel area residents—felt about the matter.

Those who spoke for or against turning 12,000 acres in the Caribou-Speckled region into "wilderness" generally made one of three arguments: the area should be "wilderness" so that hikers and hunters could experience undisturbed nature; the area should be selectively harvested to help the local economy and to improve the health of the forest and make it look better; the area should be "wilderness" and should be allowed to decay and regenerate at its own pace.

After everyone had had a say on the matter, the Congressional delegates expressed their thanks for the education. Sen. Cohen praised the level of debate: "It has been remarkable."

"[There were] really compelling arguments on both sides," he said. Philosophically, the question raised a number of basic questions, he said. What should be the role of government in people's lives; what are people's spiritual needs; and what are people's economic needs?

Sen. George Mitchell also praised the participants, who included officials from the U.S. Forest Service, the Natural Resources Council of Maine, the Multiple Use Association, the Appalachian Mountain Club, Maine Audubon Society, as well as scores of unaffiliated speakers.

"I've never attended [a hearing] in which views were better expressed," he added. "As for myself, I've made no decision [on whether to propose the area as 'wilderness']."

Rep. Olympia Snowe said, "It's been a marvelous experience for us to hear the conflicting testimony. We will have a difficult job ahead of us in reaching a decision."

After the hearing ended, Sen. Mitchell told The Citizen the delegation had no timetable for reaching a decision. If they decide to not introduce legislation designating the area as "wilderness" they need take no action whatsoever. Only if they think the area should be designated "wilderness" must they take action.

In the event they do not act, the area is already a "wilderness study area" by order of the U.S. Forest Service. This means that nothing can be done to it for 10 years, while the Secretary of Agriculture decides whether or not to recommend to Congress that it be designated "wilderness." However, the Congress can act without the secretary's recommendation.

While three of the state's four Congressional delegates received an education on the issue in the Telstar lecture hall, Richard Duplessis, of the Bog Road, thought they should experience the Caribou-Speckled area first-hand, and he offered to take them for a hike. (The trail begins at the end of the Bog Road.)

"While we're talking about it, you may as well see it and enjoy the beauty," Mr. Duplessis said. The delegates thanked him for his offer, but none made a date.

SENATORS WILLIAM COHEN AND GEORGE MITCHELL and Representative Olympia Snowe, flanked by aides, paid close attention to the speakers at last Saturday's hearing on the proposal to declare 12,000 acres of the Caribou-Speckled area "wilderness." Over 150 people attended the hearing, which was held at the Telstar lecture hall and hosted by U.S. Forest Service officials from the White Mountain National Forest.

Gould starting exchange program with Costa Rica

Gould Academy is initiating a partnership with three schools in Costa Rica. The program will enable four students and one teacher from Costa Rica to come to the school's Bethel campus in February, and three students and two teachers to travel from Bethel to Costa Rica during the month of March.

The philosophy behind this program is based on the idea that unlimited knowledge can be gained from experiences with other cultures. The goals include working toward a school-wide understanding of the lifestyle and values of the Costa Rican people; to make a small contribution towards improving relations between the United States and Central America; to improve knowledge of the Spanish language; to gain a new perspective of the Gould community as members of the much larger world community; and to develop lasting friendships with people in Costa Rica.

The students from Costa Rica will be living in faculty homes and in student dormitories during their stay in Maine and will attend classes and activities at Gould. The Gould students and faculty will spend their time in the homes of Costa Rican families. During their stay they will attend classes and work with other students in their cooperative education system. The Costa Rican schools chosen for the program are agricultural, art and industrial in nature, which will enable the Gould students to become acquainted with their Costa Rican counterparts by working with them on a day-to-day basis, and should facilitate their practice of the Spanish language.

The funding for this program has been provided through the efforts of the Gould Parents' Association which held an auction last February that netted over $2,000. The Costa Rica exchange will use a part of these monies, with Gould's Four Points Program and a great issues seminar series sharing the remainder. The parents felt strongly that they wanted to support programs not regularly programmed into the budget so that the student body could benefit.

Gould officials hope the exchange program will grow and expand in the coming years and that it will build an awareness of Central America for Gould students and faculty.

While the units will be owned by individual owners, he plans to rent them out to guests on behalf of the owners—the same as is done at the Riverview Motel. The motel units already at the campground are owned by his in-laws, he said.

The next meeting of the Planning Board will be Monday, Nov. 23, at 7 p.m., at Telstar Regional High School.

Jobs

The full results are expected to be released later this week.

The business leaders who responded to the survey questionnaire—130 out of 200—overwhelmingly said they expected to expand production or sales. Among the additional workers they expected to be hiring were these positions: screen-printer, painter, supervisor, printer, typesetter, camera operator, cosmetologist, physician, electrician, electrician's helper, skilled machine operators, gardener, childcare worker, teacher, restaurant manager, farm laborer, clerical worker, store clerk, retail help, office worker.

Also, secretary, truck driver, yard foreman, floral design help, lumbergrader, bookkeeper, service station attendant, housekeeper, waitress, dishwasher, cook, sawmill operator, clipper, weekend help, mechanic, equipment operator, carpenter, carpenter's helper, real estate sales, ski repair technician.

Local skiers head west

The Gould and Telstar cross-country ski teams leave this Friday for West Yellowstone, Mont., where they will train for 10 days with the top cross-country and biathlon skiers in the United States.

The teams will be led by the Bethel Outing Club coaching staff, namely Bob Remington, of Telstar, and Dick Taylor and Kirk Siegel, of Gould.

Telstar skiers include: Paula Michaud, Brant Remington, Denise Gauthier, Nathan Bean, Kristin Powell, Nathan Miseroch and Jamie Blake.

Gould skiers are: Kevin Davis and Martha Newell, of Bethel; Paige Christie, of Rumford; Jim Palmer, of Waban, Mass.; Patrice Leary, of Fitzwilliam, N.H.; James Upham, of Wilton.

The Bethel Outing Club group includes several of Maine's top high school cross country skiers. The training experience should bring them into the competitive season in top shape.

The skiers raised their own funds through raffle sales, all of which were matched by an anonymous donation from a friend of Bethel and Gould Academy. Prize donors included: The Bethel Inn Ski Touring Center, Sunday River Inn Ski Touring Center, and Sunday River Skiway. The final raffle drawing (for a compact disk recorder) will be held on Thursday, Nov. 19, at the Outing Club's potluck supper at the Bethel Congregational Church.

Besides running the annual Bethel Ski Sale, yearly ski camps, running and ski races, and social gatherings, the Bethel Outing Club funds Bethel junior skiers who make national and regional teams.

By ARLINE BERNIER

The poem written for Gil Seely which was quoted in the Newry items last week included a few minor changes with one I wish to correct. The next to last line should have ended, "my very good friend" rather than "my very best friend." It is common to use words carelessly assuming that the listener knows what is meant, but I'm one of those picky ones who takes a literal meaning except for idioms, expressions and colloquialisms.

One of my fans stopped by Sunday. Now I'll keep an eye out for the other. Mark Hamlin and Otis Bartlett, of the Berlin area, were in town to look at the McKensie lot on Backstreet and came on up for a visit. Mr. Hamlin and Roland enjoyed talking about former days in logging and we all had a pleasant visit as we found mutual interests.

Jay McKinley, of Epping, N.H., is staying with Walt Lumbard. Jay got smitten with the area and is looking for a camp lot and designing a building already. Walt reported he has bagged 83 deer in his life so far, but has not been successful this year yet. There are a few deer around, but the natives have hid them. The Aron families are rightfully pleased and proud of the showing Charlotte made as a candidate for Miss Maine. The Press Herald took several pictures of her as they thought she would win and are giving her the pictures.

Terry Beauchemin and Arline Bernier served as ballot clerks at the last election. The Angevines, Davises and Ron Jordan registered as voters, swelling the voting list to 67; 37 voted in person and six by absentee ballot. Terry worked on a lovely cross stitch picture or read between patrons, and I added a knit stocking to my growing collection of Christmas gifts.

Oscar Hamel is splitting wood for Roland. The invention of the splitter is one of the greatest of the century, second only to the development of instant coffee.

Richard Jordan sold his small trailer and it is being moved.

Route 26 was the arena for malicious mischief Thursday and Friday. The Bachelders of Newry lost their new house trailer by fire of suspicious nature, much stuff was stolen and places broken into. The state troopers are much in evidence and some loot has been recovered.

Bill Wood sold some of his stored furniture.

Margaret Mitchell's nephew, Pete and Muriel Anne are at her camp for the weekend.

Sorry I didn't get my items in early last week as I should have because of the holiday. One fellow called, concerned that I might not be well, and that was really nice.

Buster keeps bachelor hall while Virginia is in Florida for a spell.

Blood drive Nov. 23 at Congregational Church

A blood donor is good for new mothers needing a transfusion; for people who go through windshields; for somebody with leukemia; for people being operated on; for hemophiliacs so they can be healthy as possible; for dare devils; for someone undergoing dialysis while awaiting a kidney transplant; for people who are badly burned; for cancer patients. For people having open heart surgery; for anybody any age with bleeding ulcers; for people in the wrong place at the wrong time; for the very tired with severe anemia; for people who are in a lot worse shape than most people you know.

Your single donation can help at least two and usually three or more of these patients. To help assure an adequate community blood supply, the Bethel Area Health Center is sponsoring an American Red Cross blood drive Nov. 23, from 12 noon to 6 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church. Babysitting will be available.

If you are in generally good health, weigh at least 110 pounds, have never had hepatitis and are at least 18 years old (17 years old with American Red Cross parental/guardian form) you may be able to donate blood. For more information, or to make an appointment, call Muriel, at 824-2193.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my most sincere gratitude to everybody for their kindnesses and warm wishes shown to me during my present disability. Thanks to my best friend and my sister for attending to me and my affairs at home. Thank you to all my family, friends, and neighbors for the cards, visits, gifts, and flowers. And thank you to the Andover Calvary Congregational Church for prayers and the delicious fruit basket. Thanks again to one and all.

Janice Hill

Oscar Hamel has finished splitting wood for the Bernier and Bergeron homes.

We escaped the last two snowstorms which whitened the coast and many areas to the south of us. As of this writing our landscape is dry and brown.

It can be confusing when the service is announced as memorial instead of funeral. Lillian donated her body to Harvard Medical School, so the service is different, but is open to everyone, not private.

Today's "horoscope": If you were born today and are visited by skunks, don't make war on them, but if you must, have lots of stationery nearby which can be sold to flatlanders as Natural Country-scented.

ALBANY CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH HAD BUSY YEAR

As has been the tradition in recent years, services at the Albany Congregational Church began the last Sunday in May with an evening Memorial Service conducted by the pastor, Rev. Norman Rust. Regular Sunday services were held through Sept. 27 with very good attendance.

Over the summer services were conducted by laity while Reverend and Mrs. Rust were away with son Brian at college in Ohio. The willingness of parishioners to share in conducting these services was greatly appreciated and brought a sense of new closeness.

The church trustees, Hugh Stearns, Arthur Wardwell and Alice Wardwell, devoted a great deal of time assuring that various projects were completed. These included the painting of the ceiling and interior walls of the sanctuary and the installation of ceiling fans to improve air circulation for heating or cooling. It is planned to have the woodwork and pews painted in the spring, and an electric organ is being purchased to begin the 1988 season with Donations toward the organ in memory or in honor of loved ones, are welcomed and may be sent to the church treasurer, Earlon Keniston, Box 212, Bethel, Maine 04217.

Church by-laws were reviewed and revised by a committee appointed for that purpose and adopted at the annual meeting Oct. 13. Ruth Bumpus graciously assisted in typing these along with bulletins and other material whenever called on.

Officers elected at the annual meeting were: President, Jane Wardwell; Vice President, Christine Kimball; Clerk, Jean Reynolds; Treasurer, Earlon Keniston; Trustee for three years, Arthur Wardwell; Historian-Organist, Edna York; Diaconate for one year, Elizabeth Scribner and Doris Fraser; for two years, Kathy Bennett and Roberta White. Suppers were well attended.

Serving the suppers was made easier due to renovations to the kitchen by men in the community, particularly Earlon Keniston, Hugh Stearns, Arthur Wardwell and Fred Scribner, all of whom contributed a great deal of time to the project.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVER R. DAVIS

Did you smell the smoke Monday morning? It was very strong here at noon time coming up from the fires in Virginia and other places in the South.

Mrs. Sharon Goldsmith, her mother, Sylvia Andrews, and Daphne and Julie Hoover called on me Saturday afternoon. Esther Davis spent Monday with her daughter Patsy Tibbitts, who is ill.

Mrs. Jim Milson held a birthday party for her daughter Amanda, whose birthday is the 11. There were 16 of little friends at the party. They played games and then enjoyed ice cream and cake for refreshments.

Jerold Mason has been trapping coyotes. He has caught four of them and a fox. He was one of our lucky hunters and shot an eight point buck. It would weigh over 300 lbs. as estimated before death.

Mrs. and Mrs. James Mason report seeing a bear and two cubs in the neighborhood this fall. They were going home and saw the bears beside the road. One baby crossed the road to the other side. The other one had climbed a post. It was where they could drive up to it which they did and were going to take its picture. He came down the post, nearly landing on their hood. Then the big bear stood up; they had not noticed her. She grabbed the little fellow in her arms as you would a child and ran off with it. It was quite a thrill for the Masons.

Bears have been in and around West Paris this fall also.

Under new business, the committee submitted nominees for the coming year: Virginia Walker; Vice President, Powell; Second Vice President, Wieden; Secretary, Barbara; Treasurer, Sarah Stevens. The list of officers was read by Lindley Widen.

Handicapped Skiing expects big fundraiser

Maine Handicapped Skiing's 3rd Annual Ski-A-Thon is scheduled for Saturday, March 12, 1988 at Sunday River Ski Resort.

The annual Ski-A-Thon is MHS's major fundraising event and its participants have raised the largest amount of pledges from private donations of any single-day fundraiser held in Maine.

The Ski-A-Thon involves over 300 persons who generate pledges from corporations, individuals and service clubs, based on the number of vertical transport feet or the number of runs skied.

The 1988 Ski-A-Thon categories will be: Media-Broadcast, Media-Journalism, Stockbrokers, Insurance-General, Insurance-Life, Banks, Corporate, Private, Schools, and Ski Shops/Clubs. Each category will have approximately six teams consisting of five persons each.

A grand prize of a week's ski trip to Vail, Colo., is presented to the team that raises the most money in pledges overall. Prizes of a ski weekend at Sunday River and a pair of skis are awarded to the team and the person (respectively) that raise the most pledges in each category.

Norstar Bank's team was the Grand Prize recipient last year, raising over $11,000 in pledges.

Thanks to the winning efforts of the 38, 1987 Ski-A-Thon teams and their participants, Maine Handicapped Skiing will be able to offer the joys and challenges of downhill skiing to over 100 handicapped persons during the January through March 1988 season.

Persons interested in learning more about, or becoming involved with, MHS—either through participation in the Ski-A-Thon, volunteering their time or sponsoring a student—are urged to write to: Maine Handicapped Skiing, Sunday River Ski Resort, RFD 2 Box 1971, Bethel, Maine 04217 or by calling (207) 824-3018.

at 3:00-4:00.

The Spirit-Filled Child Of God does not look around continually or he would be dismayed; he does not look within, or he would be disgusted; he does not look back, or he would be defeated; he does not look at others, or he would be disappointed; he does not look at his circumstances, or he would be disheartened; he does not fix his gaze on his blessings, or he would be diverted; but he looks at Christ and is delighted.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO PREPARE AN ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT STATEMENT AND TO CONDUCT PUBLIC SCOPING MEETINGS
The Economic Regulatory Administration (ERA) of the Department of Energy (DOE) will conduct public meetings in Maine on December 1, 2, and 3 for the purpose of obtaining public input on the issues that should be addressed during preparation of an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) related to the construction by Central Maine Power Company (CMP) of electric transmission facilities in Maine which will cross the U.S. international border. CMP has requested a Presidential permit authorizing such construction. Such a permit will require preparation of an EIS pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, as amended.

The proposed facilities will consist of a ±450 kV direct current transmission line crossing the U.S.-Canadian border in the township of Bowmantown, Maine, and extending to a converter terminal near the towns of Farmington and Jay, Maine. A 345 kV alternating current transmission line will extend from that terminal to CMP's existing Surowiec Substation in the town of Pownal. An expansion of the 345 kV Surowiec Substation is also planned. The transmission facilities will be designed to transmit up to 1,000,000 kilowatts of electric power.

The first public meetings will be held on December 1 in the Lecture Hall at Mexico High School in Mexico, Maine. The meetings will begin at 11:00 a.m. and continue until all speakers have been heard. The meeting will reconvene at 7:00 p.m.

On December 2 public meetings will be held in the Rangeley Town Hall in Rangeley, Maine. Again, the meetings will begin at 11:00 a.m. and reconvene at 7:00 p.m.

On December 3 a meeting will convene at 11:00 a.m. in Room 120 of the State Office Building in Augusta. The State Office Building is located at the corner of Capitol and Sewall Streets. An evening session will be held at the Lewiston Multi-Purpose Center, 145 Birch Street, Lewiston, Maine, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

All sessions of the scoping meetings will be conducted informally. Those who desire to present oral comments are requested to provide advanced notice to the Presiding Officer, Mr. Anthony Como, Office of Fuels Programs, Economic Regulatory Administration, Mail Code RG-22, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20585 (telephone (202) 586-5935) by November 24, if possible. A maximum time limit of 15 minutes will be allowed for each speaker.

Every effort will be made to provide those present, who have not provided advanced notice, with a chance to speak if time permits. Should anyone desire to provide additional written comments for the record, such comments should be submitted to the above address within 60 days after notice of these proceedings appears in the Federal Register.

West Paris
By VIVA WHITMAN

Rather cold and windy this morning. The clouds hang low and it looks like it could storm but hope against hope that it won't. I'm just like everybody else, don't want to see it snow as yet. I guess I shouldn't have said it quite that way as I am sure that the skiers will enjoy the snow when it comes and are anxious to see it. I'm glad for them but not for those of us who would rather see it wait awhile. Got things that need to be done and the snow would interfere with the work.

Of course our septic tank is bothering as long as the cold weather has set in and we need to get it fixed so want good weather to get it done. The man was here and did part of the job but had to have repairs for his truck and hasn't gotten back as yet. We hope today will be the day for his return. The job needs doing before we get a lot of snow to make it so difficult to do.

I'm afraid my walks have dwindled off since the colder weather has set in as it bothers my lungs to get out in the cold air. Got to put on a mask and see if that will help so I can walk just the same. The exercises have helped a lot but need to keep walking to keep the legs in shape. Of course while I'm walking I can't accomplish other tasks that I need to do, so it makes one wonder what to do first.

Went to Lewiston last Thursday for my eye examination. Was glad to find I didn't have to wear new lenses, though there are times when I can't see as well as I would like to. At least I don't have serious trouble with my eyes at this time. After the appointment, we all went over to Wynona's home for lunch and to visit. Kariann came home with us as her mother was going to a workshop on Friday and needed a place for her to stay. Courtney was going to visit a little friend overnight on Friday and go to her dance class on Saturday with her friend. Her father brought her up in the evening and she stayed overnight with us. Then Mike came and got the girls after lunch on Sunday. He came to lunch with us and visited awhile with me.

We went to West Paris Grange for the Harvest Supper and to see the movies or slides shown by Wilbur Libby. They were interesting but would have liked to have seen some animals in the slides. Kariann was a good girl for me and seemed to enjoy the supper and the pictures afterward.

Friday I had to go see the chiropractor for my back. Laura Hutchins, from East Andover, came down and Peggy went to the hospital with her and to stay with her husband Bernard while she was being operated on, but they sent them home as it would be a long wait. They returned here and after lunch went down to see how Laura was. They found her groggy but O.K. so didn't stay long. I went to see Dr. Ware about my lungs, which have bothered since before I came home from the hospital in Portland. They don't seem to want to clear up even though it is easier to breathe now than when down there. Dr. Ware said I sounded real dry so gave me some medicine to hopefully help. Can't say that there has been much change though. Still feel wheezy, and breathing is shallow. Curse the allergies anyway. They can make life miserable for anyone.

Kariann and I stayed home on Saturday morning while Russell and Peggy went for groceries. Late in the afternoon Michael brought Courtney up to stay overnight. The girls hated to have him go but were real good after he left. That's usually the way it is. Peggy went dancing to get her usual exercise and have a good time.

Sunday was the day the septic system started bothering worse. Flush ran over, as they will sometimes, and made a mess to be cleaned up. I was busy doing this and that and seeing that things were as good as they could be. Michael came to lunch and stayed a little while before going home. Peggy and Russell went down to visit Laura and then went to visit Mary Smith who was a classmate of Peggy's. She lost her husband not too long ago and I know how lonesome it can be when alone. It is worse for her as she has arthritis so badly she can't get out of her chair without someone to help her. Being alone that way has got to be very depressing.

Waited for a call from Laura for Peggy to take her home on Monday morning but didn't get the call. Peggy went down to visit her in the afternoon and while there the doctor came in and discharged her, so Peggy took her home. Barbara Yates had come down to visit her and just missed them so came up here and visited a while. We are always happy to see her come.

My foster daughter, Helen Strout, of Oxford, had come to call on Sunday evening. Hadn't seen her for some time so Ronnie and Eddie Deegan put up a CB antenna for Irene Wilson last weekend. Irene is improving from a case of flu. Howard and Mildred Emery, Westbrook, visited Joe and Muriel Gilbert one day.

The Gilberts were shopping in New Hampshire on Friday. Sorry to hear that Mike, Sandy, Amy and Seth Wilson are moving to Lincoln.

was pleasantly surprised and glad to see her. Peggy drove Russell to the doctor's on Tuesday and I decided to go to town to do a little Christmas shopping while there was a sale. After shopping, I decided to go to the garage and see if I could get my snowboard tires on to be prepared for snow when it came. Had a long wait of one and a half hours but got the tires on so feel safer with snow in the weather forecast.

Yesterday was my turn to go for a back treatment to North Bridgton. The doctor had been away on vacation so was glad to see him back and get a good treatment. Hope it helps my troubles some.

Have been doing a cross stitch picture and got that finished, which pleased me. Have been doing knitting and sewing and lots of things, but there isn't time enough to do all I want to do for the craft sale at West Paris Grange on December 5. If any of you good folks have crafts for sale, they are having tables to let for $2.00 a piece, which is great. Come and sell your goodies and you might find something you would like to buy from someone else. You never know if you don't come. They will have food for sale at the same time so it should be interesting.

I have been trying to get a few things made to sell down there, but guess I am slow this year as I haven't gotten done all I want to as yet. Time gets away from one when they are busy.

West Paris Grange will also have a dance on December 5 and have a good time for all as usual, so come and enjoy.

Guess there isn't much else for news around here as we try to keep warm and hope and pray for better weather. If it comes we will appreciate it, and if it doesn't, we will have to take what comes and make the best of it as usual. See you all soon. Take care and keep warm.

The skyland now are full of wings wending their southward way. Quietly Mother Nature goes about her yearly ritual preparing everything for a restful time.

As I walked today, the wind was strong and in all places leaves were losing their holdings and were floating all around. The far away hills were wrapped in the glow of changing hues and I enjoyed it all.

I watched a hawk as it soared upward in effortless flight above the water. Higher and higher it spiraled until a tiny speck was swallowed into the void of infinity.

I stopped by to see the witch hazel shrub which grows in most parts of Maine except the far north. It has scaly bark and zigzag branches. In autumn there are bright yellow flowers, and interesting brown fruit, usually two in a cluster. When they are ripe the seeds are discharged violently.

I took time to examine beautiful mosses, where I halted beside slopes shaggy with ferns.

By one spot I found juniper berries. How blue they were growing here on a knoll.

In the verdant meadows the goldenrod gently swayed, and milkweed pods were sending forth their snowy down.

Across the canvas of the western skies the clouds are now being painted with glowing colors. I can see the spacious dome; slowly it is transformed into flames of living fire, ever changing from brilliant red to orange, yellow, and greenish gold. Then it slowly faded into twilight. Another day has made its exit into this riot of color.

On this Friday morning I was very surprised to see the ground white with snow.

We were saddened to hear of the death of Pat DiArenzo on Wednesday. He and his family have lived here for several years. He was a good neighbor and friend and will be missed. We extend our sympathy to his wife and members of the family.

Crystal Aylward, Heather Gibbs, Mary Harrington, Axel Annis and Tony Buker were the chefs from Miss Merrill's 3rd Grade who made Mrs. Birdie's Bread to share with their classmates. The recipe came from their Ginn reading story "The Mystery Smell" and the creation proved a delicious success!

Mrs. Cohen's kindergartners had a visit from representatives of the Bethel Fire Department. They're studying the four food groups and doing a lot of sampling of healthy foods.

Mrs. Salway's kindergartners concluded their study of cats and pets with a visit to Alcott Kennels and Pet Store, in Oxford. The students saw ferrets, a cockatoo, chameleon, iguana, Siamese kittens, baby guinea pigs, parakeets and hamsters. Each student was given his/her very own goldfish, and the classroom has a new resident—a hamster!

Mrs. Wight's 3rd Graders are working on their first letters to pen pals at Woodstock.

The 2nd Graders from EBS went to Norway for the "Kinder Concert" of the Portland Symphony. The percussion section of the orchestra entertained children in Oxford County area schools, not only by playing, but also involving children in several selections. All the students enjoyed the experience and are looking forward to similar events.

Congratulations to Sarah Seames, Mary Harrington and Jason Berry who've graduated from Level 1 math facts contest in Miss Merrill's 3rd grade. Good work!

Mrs. Wight's 3rd Graders shared stories with hosts at EBS, Mrs. Coolidge's 2nd Graders.

The planning of the 2nd annual craft show is in full swing. It's planned for Dec. 12 at Telstar High School. If you have used toys and books you'd like to donate you may drop them off at CPS during school hours or contact Brenda Wight. These were two highly successful areas last year. If you're interested in renting a craft table or donating baked goods, we'd appreciate your help. Craft Fair committee members are Brenda Wight, Kathleen Bennett, Paula Smith, Al Carson and Laurie Bergeron. One thing that makes the fair a success is the children's involvement. The kids not only sell at the fair, they also create many of the crafts. It's great to see the cooperation and involvement of kids joining efforts and talents.

Woodstock scouts plan bottle drive Saturday

The Junior Girl Scouts from Bryant Pond have planned a bottle drive Saturday, Nov. 21, to raise money for a trip this spring to the Boston Museum of Science.

The March trip is sponsored by Girl Scouts of the USA and gives girls a continuous 24 hours in the museum. A variety of special activities are planned by the museum staff. Girls will take sleeping bags and camp-in at the science center. Troop #805 is a new troop this year for girls in the fourth through sixth grades at Woodstock. Previously Girl Scouting ended at the Brownie level at the school. Under the leadership of Jane Chandler, the girls have already presented a play on Halloween Safety for the entire school. They are excited about the trip to Boston in March and are looking forward to community support to help raise money for the trip.

The bottle drive is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Woodstock School. Girls will collect bottles in Greenwood City, the Old County Road, Andrews Road, Perkins Valley Road, Route 26, Route 232, the Gore Road and Bryant Pond Village. Please save your bottles for the drive on Saturday. In addition, bottles may be dropped off at the school anytime between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Gould to host ski camp for junior alpine skiers

Gould Academy will once again host a weekend Alpine Ski Camp for junior skiers who are interested in becoming better skiers and in developing their racing skills.

The on-snow part of the camp will take place at Sunday River Ski Resort, with housing, meals, some technical training and equipment care taking place on the Gould campus. The weekend this year is Dec. 4-6.

Last year student skiers from Applewild, Cardigan Mountain, Eaglebrook, Fessenden and North Country Schools enjoyed the good weather, fun, coaching, and excellent skiing.

Coaching is provided by Gould coaches and members of the Gould racing team, with instruction broken down into five different ability levels. Skiers will also have the chance to analyze their own skiing by seeing themselves on video and through discussion with Gould coaches and their own coaches, who will accompany them.

The program is being coordinated by Emily L. Stuart, assistant director of admissions. Inquiries about the program can be made by calling her at 824-2196.

Gould students will teach local youngsters to ski

For the second year, Gould Academy, in conjunction with Sunday River Skiway, is offering an after-school alpine ski instruction program to students in Grades 3 to 5 who attend Bethel's Crescent Park School.

The program will run from Jan. 7 to Feb. 25 on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons (weather permitting). Students will be picked up at Crescent Park at 2:15, ski until 4:15, and be dropped off at Crescent Park at 4:45 p.m. In addition, Sunday River has provided a half-day of skiing during the vacation week, Wed., Feb. 17.

There will also be an annual awards ceremony Feb. 28, which includes a full day of fun and skiing for the children, with an option for their parents to join them.

Gould students, supervised by Emily Stuart and Steve Blake, will again provide the instruction and the enthusiasm. Sunday River will provide the ski tickets and rental equipment at a very nominal fee.

If a student has his or her own ski equipment, it must be inspected for safe skiing at the Sunday River Ski Shop before it can be used.

Transportation limits the program to only 50 Crescent Park students each day. These spots will be given to those who are signed up and paid for first. A letter detailing the program has been sent to all parents having children in Grades 3 to 5 who attend Crescent Park.

Questions about the program can be answered by calling Emily L. Stuart, assistant director of admissions at Gould Academy at 824-2196.

To be early this year. We have been lucky that we haven't gotten all the snow that other places have. Probably many hunters would like the snow so that they can track deer. I don't like the strong cold wind that sweeps from the north and west, nor the cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bancroft, Mrs. Paul Halle, of Lisbon Falls, Mrs. Muriel Kimball, of Waterford, and Mrs. Marion Arsenault, of Norway were among those from this area attending funeral services for Mrs. Virginia Lapham, in Belfast last weekend. Interment was in the Morrill Cemetery.

I spent a few days the first of the week with my daughter and family in Orléans. She drove me to Portland Monday for a medical appointment. Wednesday night I spent with the Adams family in Hanover. Dottie drove me to the Rumford hospital for a test on Thursday.

Mrs. Norma Salway went to Boston Wednesday with her sister, Mrs. Dottie Adams, of Hanover. They did not run into any snow that day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hindman spent some time with his grandmother, Mrs. Elmira Doyen, this weekend.

Late Friday night fire from an overheated stove caused considerable floor damage in the Albany Town House. A group from Outward Bound were staying there. The Bethel Fire Department responded.

SAFELY HOME
I am home in Heaven, dear ones.
Oh so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty in this everlasting light.
All the pain and grief is over.
Every restless tossing passed.
I am now at peace forever.
Safely home in Heaven at last.
Did you wonder I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shadow?
Oh! but Jesus gave illumined
Every dark and fearful glade.
And he came Himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread
And with Jesus' arm to lean on
Could I have one doubt or dread?
Then you must not grieve so sorely.
For I love you dearly still.
Try to look beyond earth's shadows.
Pray to trust our Father as well.
There is work still waiting for you
So you must not stay behind.
Do I now wait in the remnant
You shall rest in Jesus' land
When that work is all completed
He will gently call you home
On the nature of that meeting
Oh, my joy to see you come!
Safely missed by all

State officials unveil winter tourism campaign

"Maine—the way life should be," is the theme of this year's winter tourism promotion campaign.

The campaign, which has been developed by the State Office of Tourism, was previewed by the Ski Maine Association last week at Lost Valley.

While relying heavily on skiing for its visual images and copy, the new campaign attempts to reach out beyond the ski market.

According to Gordon Clapp, director of the Office of Tourism, the new, $400,000 campaign resulted from the search for a "statewide theme that could be used statewide." The result, Director Clapp said, capitalizes on the state's "unique emotional appeal, lifestyle and values."

The winter promotion campaign is built around four print ads and two 30-second television commercials, all of which will be seen primarily in eastern Massachusetts.

The print ads are aimed not only at the usual alpine and cross-country ski markets, but also at snowmobilers and the romantic-getaway market. The theme for the last of these being, "You don't have to go south to get warm."

The television commercials begin with brief shots of alpine or cross-country skiing, but quickly move to inside a lodge, where a yuppie couple cuddles in fireglow and toasts "the way life should be."

While the ad campaign promotes Maine as a place to "rejuvenate and relax," the acknowledged keystone of winter tourism in the state is skiing, and the ups and downs of the skiing industry largely determine the success of the overall winter tourism season.

Last year the ski industry was phenomenally successful. Total skier days reached nearly a million, up 53.5 percent from the already record breaking 1985/86 season.

In the hopes of building still further on that success, ski areas in Maine have invested over $35 million (another record) this year in on-hill and real estate development.

And "The Farmers Almanac" predicts a lot of snow.

Chamber schedules Christmas activities

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce invites area residents to put on their Christmas splendor and enter the fourth annual Christmas decorating contest.

There will be two winners in each of two categories: residence and business. Judging will be done on Friday evening, Dec. 18th, between 5 and 9 p.m.

To enter, call the Chamber office, 824-2282, with name, town and directions to location of house or business. Chamber director Robin Zuehlke said, "Let's all do our best to make the area look really festive this holiday season."

Housing rehab program helps local families

Many families have homes that do not offer safe or adequate living conditions. Common problems in these homes include: deteriorating structural conditions, over-crowdedness, dangerous electrical systems, inadequate or no plumbing, unsanitary waste disposal and lack of weather stripping and insulation.

Maine has one of the oldest housing stocks in the nation. For many Mainers housing is not satisfactory; there are over 46,000 homes in substandard condition. Addressing this problem and helping families/individuals help themselves is one of the VISTA Housing Rehab Team Goals.

The VISTA Housing Rehab Program is sponsored by Community Concepts, Inc. The team consist of a Volunteer Coordinator, Susan Haley and two Rehab Developers, Rhonda Rice and Hank Wakefield. The team works with eligible homeowners in Oxford County to determine the most appropriate source of funding for materials for every job. Some of the funds can be by volunteer hours provided on the job.

The program began in March of 1985 and has provided approximately 2,567 volunteer hours for a savings of $13,526 in labor costs. The program also received $3,500 in donated materials from individuals and businesses.

Currently, VISTA volunteers are working on several projects in Oxford County, towns which include: West Paris, West Paris, North Paris, Fryeburg, Woodstock and East Bethel. Volunteers now working with the projects are individuals, families and church groups, volunteers both skilled and unskilled.

The VISTA program is now working with a homeowner in the Woodstock area who has been living in a school bus for the past 2½ years. There is one child and one on the way, the homeowner says, "We are bursting at the seams." Another major problem is the condensation inside the bus on cold days, with the problem of mold and mildew.

The project of building a new home began in July, but with the help of volunteers and donations of materials it can be completed on time. Volunteers are asked to put in the amount of hours they feel they have time for and donations for building materials requested are lumber (2x4, 2x6, 2x8), cement blocks, mortar, nails, etc.

The chamber is organizing Christmas tree lightings in area towns. Bethel's will be Sunday, Dec. 6, at 7 p.m., on the Common. The dates for Newry, Greenwood and Woodstock lightings will be announced later.

There will be an open house of inns on Sunday, Dec. 6, from 1 to 4 p.m. All those interested in visiting the inns in the area should start at Edelweiss Country store. Lists of the inns taking part in the self-guided tour will be available at the store.

NEWS FROM THE

Snowmobile Club

The snow is flying, but very little is staying on the ground at this time. It's just as well since a lot of bushing, flagging and bridge-building is still in progress. As much as I'd like to start riding I prefer to wait a few more days to guarantee all the bridges are in place.

Leon Dunn won the breeze spinner that was donated to the club by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts of Windham.

Any cross-country skiers or snowshoos interested in using our trails or joining our club are welcome to join us for our next supper meeting Nov. 19, starting at 6:30 p.m., in Newry.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all our family and friends for all their help, cards and flowers during our recent loss of our baby son Alexander James.

Anyone willing to volunteer to help this family may do so by calling Susan Haley at 745-7718. The snowmobile club will work on weekends and some work will be done during the week. The first thing to be done is laying cement blocks. If you are experienced, your help is especially needed.

PRIM'S PHARMACY, on Main Street, Bethel, carries more than just pharmacy and health care items. It carries a complete array of everything from food to fads, and is also the local agency store. The Prim's crew includes Chris Blake, Dave Preble and Marjorie Osgood.

This is your Chamber of Commerce

Each week, this column will spotlight a different member of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. The purpose is to give some understanding about the various fields of endeavor of the Chamber members.

There has been a drug store at the head of Main Street, Bethel, for more than 125 years. The building itself was built in 1856 and a pharmacy was opened by Goodwin Wiley in 1861. The block became known, and is still referred to today, as the Wiley Block.

The present owner, Charles Primozich, purchased the pharmacy in 1978 renaming it Prim's, the fourth name under which the drug store has been known. The business was incorporated in 1985 and Mr. Primozich serves as president. In addition to the store in Bethel, he operates another pharmacy in South Paris.

The building was renovated extensively in 1948 and again in 1965. Under the present management the building received another facelift this year.

Prim's major product is over the counter medications and prescription medicine which is distributed under the careful management of its pharmacist, David Preble. In addition to the wide array of medicine offered, Prim's also carries a small line of groceries, school supplies and gift items. It also provides an increasing number of services which includes being the area's Western Union, dry cleaning, lottery and watch repair agent.

Prim's is noted for the personal service provided to its customers. Mr. Preble is always willing to answer a question regarding medication, often delivers medicine to those who are unable to make come to the store, and provides free blood pressure screening to community residents.

Ann Patten, who is manager, has been at the drug store for over 20 years. Along with a staff of 10 people, Ann's goal has always been to provide quality, caring services to the community Prim's serves.

TEACHER ORGANIZING TRIP TO ENGLAND FOR STUDENTS

Ann Hastings Morton, guidance counselor at Rumford Junior-Senior High School, is once again organizing an April trip to Europe for area students and adults. This year a nine-day trip to England is being planned, April 16-25.

The group will spend five days in London where, in addition to sightseeing, there will be a medieval banquet and two plays included. Part of each day will be spent with a guide, and ample free time will enable individuals to experience the city at their own pace. Areas that will be visited in the English countryside include Windsor, Stratford-on-Avon, Coventry, Bath and Stonehenge.

Anyone who would like more information about the trip may call Mrs. Morton at 369-9999 evenings and weekends, or at Rumford High School during the day. Mrs. Morton has taken groups to Italy, Spain, Portugal, Morocco and France previously. She coordinates the program through Cultural Heritage Alliance in Philadelphia.

Local legislators meet with state road boss

State Representative Jeff Mills (D-Bethel) and State Senator Ed Erwin (D-Rumford) met recently with Maine Transportation Commissioner Dana Connors to discuss concerns of Western Maine residents and businesses regarding roads in the area.

Roads 26, 2 and 4 were all topics of discussion at the meeting, as were local concerns, such as the schedule for completion of the work on Lovers Lane in Bethel and the possibility of construction of a boat landing at the Department of Transportation rest area on Route 2 between Bethel and Hanover.

Both Rep. Mills and Sen. Erwin have been active proponents for increased highway funding for Western Maine. Mr. Mills is a member of the legislature's Transportation Committee.

Following the meeting with Commissioner Connors, Rep. Mills said he felt the commissioner to be receptive to their suggestions and that the legislative delegation will continue to make sure that the interests of the area are kept in the forefront.

CARD OF THANKS

Charlotte Aron and family would like to thank once again all of her sponsors who made it possible for her to go on to the Miss Maine-USA Pageant which was held Nov. 1 at the Holiday Inn in downtown Portland.

Charlotte (Miss Upton) was one of the semi-finalists in the pageant. She was awarded the Miss Photogenic award which the judges chose. She also received a $250 scholarship for the Barabazoo School of Modeling.

Miss Scarborough, Suzanne Grenier, won Miss Maine, but this had been a rewarding experience for Charlotte and other contestants.

In Memoriam

In Memory of Lillian Abbott
The last time I saw her was after a friend's funeral service. We talked about Anne and what a truly lovely person she was, and of not understanding why she was taken so young. We talked of personal things and chit-chat and she walked off toward her car, turning back to wave with a cherry. "Drive carefully." And now I will not see my lifelong dearest friend and sister until I die and go to spend eternity in that glorious place where she resides.

These verses are for you and for me and whoever may need them:
And Lord, when someone who loves you, leaves me to find shelter in your arms, I feel sorry for myself and forget that they are happy there with You.
O Lord, forgive me and keep reminding me that I am the one who wavers and that you are ever and forever faithful and true.

My son reminded me that I am held together by the cords of love. As I go about my everyday affairs with everyday chatter and fellowship, I feel the caring through gestures and in invisible and unspoken ways. This I feel in Andover where I met several friends. These and the cards and phone calls all supplement and weave among the thicker cords of love from family and are very much needed and appreciated.

Adult Ed has books of interest to Citizens Conference participants

The Citizens Community Conference, held Oct. 30, resulted in the formation of a number of project groups that have been meeting during the period since the conference.

Leaders of project groups are reminded to notify the Adult Education office, 824-2780, of dates, times and places of meetings, so that this information can be published.

The Adult Education office has ordered a supply of "Building the Collaborative Community," by Eva Schindler-Rainman and Ron Lipitt. This publication contains a wealth of information about action-planning for groups seeking to effect change.

The cost of the book is $10. The office has single copies of two of Eva's books, "Transitioning and The Volunteer Community" and "Creative Use of Human Resources." The latter publication was also co-authored with Ron Lipitt. Contact the office, 824-2780, to purchase or borrow a book.

West Paris residents seem to understand and accept revaluation

The West Paris property tax revaluation took nearly a year and a half to complete, but initial response to the town's new tax bills indicates residents feel the job was well and fairly done.

According to Selectman Duane Abbott, only a score of residents showed up at the open office hours the selectmen held for three nights last week to respond to questions or comments about the new bills. Of these, only four or five had serious complaints about their bills.

A number of bills, it is reported, were not as high as expected. One of the reasons for this, according to the selectmen, was that many of the new buildings that were already being assessed at more than their full value. With the lower mill rate made possible by the reassessment, property already being taxed at near its full value would see a drop in the tax bill.

This year's mill rate is $15.00 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, as compared to $24.00 per $1,000 last year. The selectmen are still working to analyze the results of the revaluation. Mr. Abbott said, and anyone still having questions or comments about their bills is welcome to come in to the town office during the selectmen's regular meetings—Thursday evenings from 8:30 to 8:50.

Friends of many years, Alanson Cummings, a veteran of World Wars I and II and Warren Smith, World War II, folded the American flag and Cummings presented it to his widow, Zolpha. Ten members officiated at the cemetery where "Pat" was laid to rest.

Affordable housing committee meets

A committee representing a wide variety of lifestyles within the SAD #41 community met last Thursday at the Bethel Library to discuss and share ideas about the lack of affordable, permanent housing in the area. The committee originated from the well-attended Citizens Community Conference, held Oct. 30 at the Bethel Inn Conference Center.

One of the goals expressed by conference participants was, "To develop and secure affordable, permanent housing for the SAD #41 community." It was felt that the greatest hindrance to attaining this goal was the cost of financing a suitable housing project or projects. The committee organized to look into the prospects for developing affordable housing discussed the current boom in the real estate market, the unavailability of both affordable homes and rentals, and the scarcity of available land close to any of the SAD #41 towns.

Developer Steve Rhodes shared information with the group about ways to keep costs down on a possible housing project. The surest way is to keep down the square footage of each unit as well as the total size of the project.

Real estate brokers Ginger Kelly, Marcia Denison and Don Taylor were in attendance, as was Roger Connat, manager of the local branch of Case Northern Bank. Some of the points they made included the concept of pre-selling the units, the idea of using Maine State Housing Authority funds, and the good relationship such developments as Bethel House and Salsbury Village have with the community.

The meeting adjourned on a positive note, with members volunteering to follow up on leads discussed and bring their information to the next meeting, which will be Wednesday, Dec. 2, at 8:30 a.m. in the Bethel Library. All who are interested are welcome, and encouraging, to attend.
